ITEM 1

Europe is one of the richest and peaceful continent. It consists of countries like England, France, Germany, Belgium which have influenced political, social and economic aspects of the world. However, most people think that these countries especially France has been stable from the start up to now. Other people agree that the current status of France was achieved through commitment and determination of the French who wanted change in 1789. You have been invited on a certain radio station to tell the people about what annoyed the French in 1789 to change everything and acquire the current status.
